Carmel Has City Administrator, New Salary Plan

As of today, the jobs of all city employees are redesignated under a new salary and classification plan based on their ability and responsibility. From now on, the city's workers will advance on a salary ladder providing a six percent increment between classified steps and ranges which will raise annual overall salary costs three and a half percent above the cost of the previous salary scale. This increase is estimated at $15,000-$16,000 for the new fiscal year which starts today.

However, last night, before the upgraded salary plan was approved, City Auditor Arthur Plaxton told the city council that a surplus of $37,495 remained in the general fund after the books for the 1964-65 fiscal year were closed yesterday.

"This is the kind of a report that makes citizens sit up and take notice," commented Mayor Herbert Blanks. He then explained that, because of this surplus, the increased cost of the new salary plan will not result in a rise in the 1965-66 tax rate.

Prepared by City Clerk Hugh Bayless, the plan creates new positions. One of these is that of city administrator. This is the new title which Mr. Bayless assumed today, following the council's approval of his new position last night. In creating this job, the council eliminated the positions of city comptroller and secretary to boards and commissions which were added responsibilities of the city clerk and for which he received compensation in addition to his $600 a month salary as city clerk. Beginning today, he will receive $954 a month which is one dollar less than he was previously paid. In the salary schedule adopted last night, City Administrator Bayless will be compensated at Step Four on a six-step scale starting at $800 per month and ending at $1070.

The office of city clerk will continue to be an elective position and Bayless will fill it until the end of his term in 1968. Realizing, however, that many more services than those designated by law to a city clerk are now required of

Council Provides More Money To Save Carmel Trees

The plight of Carmel's trees received considerable attention during city council preliminary budget study last night and on Monday and resulted in an increase in the budget for the city forester and possibly a higher amount in the parks and parkways budget.

Mayor Blanks deplored the fact the city is "falling behind more and more every year" in respect to tree care. He noted that dead branches are not trimmed from the city's trees. At a previous meeting he observed that "the skyline is getting thinner and thinner."

Monday night, the council ascertained from City Forester Hugh Smith that a survey of all trees owned by the city is under way with the assistance of two boys he has hired for the summer months. This work is preparatory to formulating a forest management plan for the city. The council added $2,000 to the $2,840 he had requested for consulting and outside services to protect the urban forest.

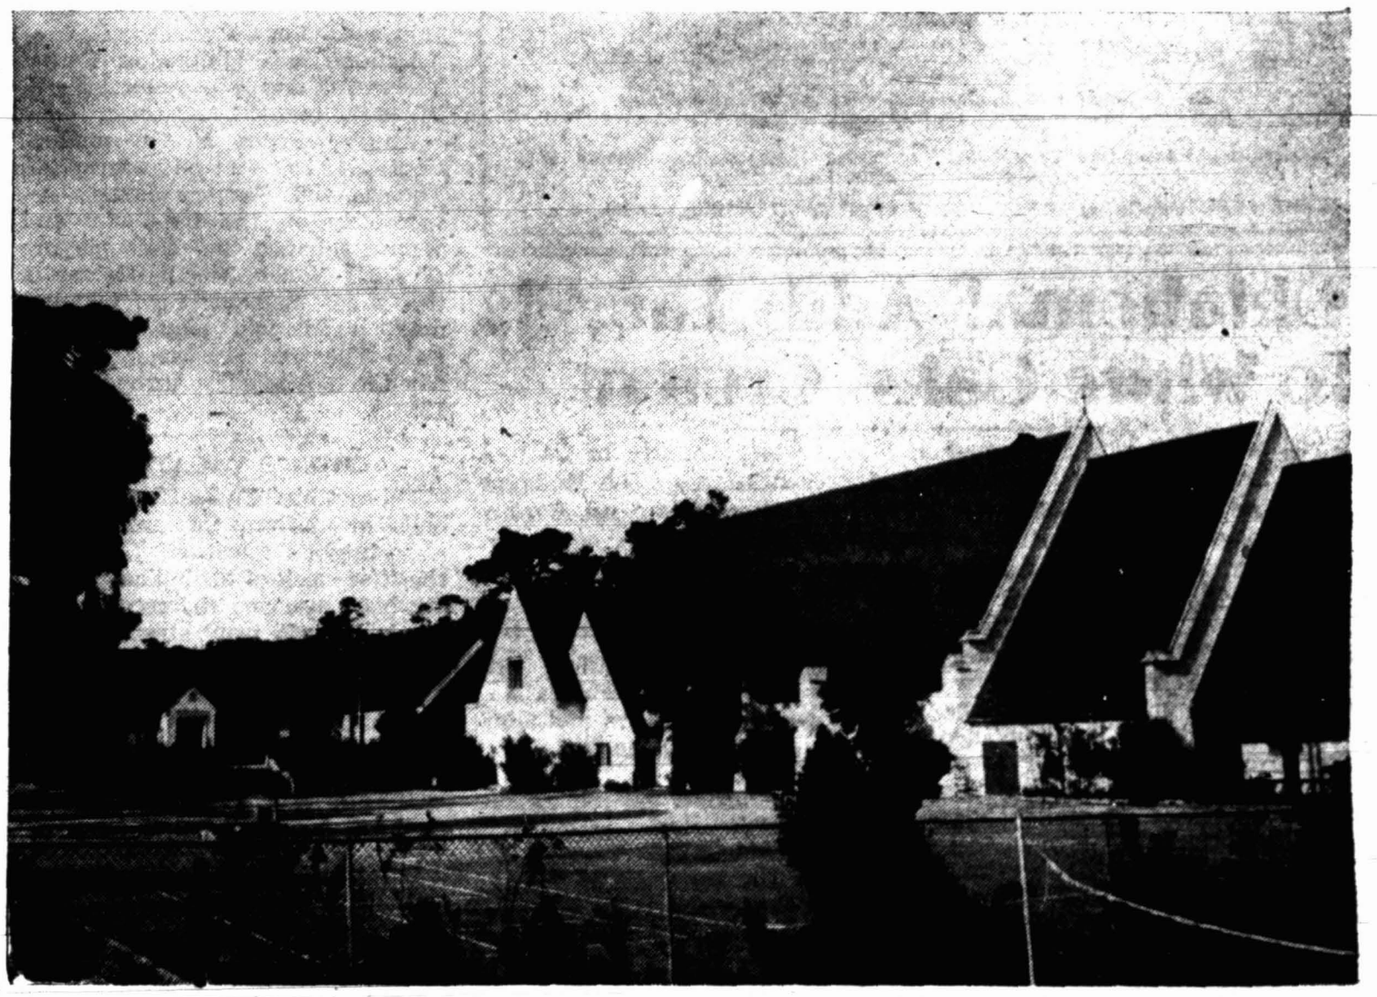
Last night, the council considered increasing the budget for parks and parkway services to provide increased tree care by the street department after Street Superintendent William Askew stated that more tree treatment can be accomplished, "all it takes is money."

Whether or not his budget should be increased to provide for a full-time "climber" which would necessitate the use of a truck and the time of at least one man while tree trimming was being done, or the city should contract for tree care with a private firm, was discussed.

"Lately, we barely try to keep up," Mr. Askew said in pointing out that he was understaffed and needs an additional employee besides the suggested "climber." The city council continued this matter until their next budget session when they will have more facts upon which to base any decision.

Codification and indexing of the municipal code also caused much discussion. Finally the council put over this matter, too, until their next budget session. In the meantime, Assistant City Attorney William Burleigh will consider the time and expense to him of indexing the present code. City Administrator Hugh Bayless will provide figures on reprinting the code, with index, in his office instead of employing a firm which specializes in codification to do the job for $4,500.

The council postponed consideration of funds for further rehabilitation of the Forest Theater pending "a definitive, realistic figure" from the arts commission for this expense.



Carmel Takes Over Sunset School . . . How Are We Paying For It?

Officially, the city, today, took charge of the facility above, Sunset School, and its two-block site. Last year, Carmel voters approved a $575,000 bond issue to buy this property from the Carmel Unified School District. On January 1, the city paid the price of the school, $550,000, to the school district. The remainder of the bond issue funds, $25,000, was earmarked to pay expenses incidental to the purchase and bond issue. At the time of the purchase, the school district paid the city $12,000 to cover rent until yesterday at $2,000 a month.

Monday, the city council authorized the first payment on the Sunset bonds. It amounted to $23,530 of which $18,530 was interest and $5,000 a payment on the principal sum. Of the total payment, $12,717 was supplied by a surplus from the bond issue's $25,000 expense money. The rest, $10,813, came from the 50 percent of the city's four percent hostelry tax earmarked to retire the Sunset bonds.

In 1989, at the end of the bond issue 25-year retirement term, the city will have paid approximately $900,000 to buy the school. The largest annual payment on this sum will be $38,360 in 1987.

The city provided that the money to retire the bonds would come from half of the hostelry tax funds. Next year these are expected to total $105,000. The other 50 percent of the hostelry tax is divided equally into greenbelt and uncommitted reserve funds.

After the first payment authorized Monday night, the city still had in its hostelry tax fund for greenbelt $72,239; in the Sunset fund $42,773; and in the uncommitted reserve fund, $46,573; a total in all three funds of $161,585.

Of the above total fund, $75,600 is placed in time deposits which are earning four percent interest. The remainder is in a commercial account in a local bank.

The fiscal year ended yesterday. In the near future the commercial account will be reevaluated to discover whether or not more money can be placed in time deposits to earn additional interest income.

Next year the city will make two payments on the Sunset bonds amounting to $28,317. The first will be an interest payment in January totalling $9,158, the second will be an equal interest payment plus a $10,000 payment on the principal. The present Sunset reserve hosterly tax fund of $42,773 will more than cover next year's payment. Anticipated in-

Public Hearing On Annexation

The next necessary step to determine whether or not areas to the south of Carmel shall be annexed to the city will take place on July 14 when the county's local agency formation commission will hold a public hearing on annexation petitions received from residents of Mission Fields; Rio Way, Mission and Walker tracts; and westerly portions of Hatton Fields Mesa.

The county body has to pass on the annexation before further steps can be taken. The hearing will be held at 8 p.m. in the Monterey County supervisors chambers in Salinas.

The Carmel city council approved circulation of annexation petitions in the areas named above.

ADULT SUMMER SCHOOL

The Carmel Adult Summer School starts on Tuesday. Classes are open to both permanent and summer residents. A fee of three dollars is charged to enroll and one may take as many classes as one wishes.

The adult school employs local artists as instructors and it is an excellent opportunity to receive fine instruction.

A complete listing of the classes may be found on page 11 of this paper and additional information may be had by telephoning 624-1714 between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Trustees Postpone Any Change In School Cafeterias

According to Carmel Unified School District Superintendent Medill Bair, the administration has no plans for recommending any basic changes in the operation of the school cafeterias unless the county counsel recommends that the district do so.

Mr. Bair, however, at last night's meeting of the board of trustees, outlined corrective measures to be taken by the administration on the cafeteria problem. They are (1) the major responsibility for lunch facilities will be in the hands of the principals of the individual schools; (2) the district will take over the entire responsibility for cleaning the facilities; (3) development of a plan for better supervision of students during the time they use the cafeterias. Further, as funds are available, it is hoped that the floors and lower wall sections of the high school cafeteria can be covered with as-

SCENIC DRIVE TO BE CLOSED

Police Chief Clyde Klaumann warns citizens that Scenic Drive may have one-way traffic south from Eighth to Santa Lucia Street on the Fourth of July and possibly on Monday.

The time for the one-way designation will depend on the volume of traffic on Scenic. If necessary, two-way use will be stopped at noon, otherwise it will continue until 6 p.m. At this hour, the numbers of cars parked on and driving along Scenic while townspeople traditionally celebrate "the Fourth in Carmel" with beach parties, necessitate one-way south travel only.

By Harry W. Fletcher

No. 114

Calamities dire may be mounting,
Corruption and debt rule our lives.
But somehow there seems no accounting
For things that strike terror in wives.

Tornadoes and floods are statistics,
There's shooting and war in the world.
But what makes these gals have hysterics
Is finding their hair's come uncurled.

I won't say all women are likely
To follow this pattern each time.
But sometimes their actions will strike me
As trivial as losing a dime.

Last evening I found my wife crying,
She wailed like in utmost despair,
And told me she had, with much sighing,
Discovered her first graying hair!

'Oklahoma!' Adds Laurels To White Oaks' Crown

"Oklahoma!", which opened at White Oaks Theatre in Carmel Valley last weekend is a stimulating presentation of the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical which has become an American classic.

Members of the theatre's seventh resident summer stock company are talented, well trained, and respond with youthful spontaneity to the accomplished direction of Tom Gruenwald. Sets and lighting by Joan Larkey display artistry and ingenuity. Choreographer Gale Peterson's dance sequences show unusual creativity. Musical director Chris Nance keeps pace with the other elements of the production and Jim Swain's costumes are delightfully colorful.

In addition, the White Oaks company performs in their recently completed and comfortable theatre which is an outstanding addition to the local theatrical community. Producer Sally Hughes Church and co-producer Barbara Cook deserve plaudits for the continued effort which has put White Oaks Theatre in its presently enviable position. Seven years ago, Miss Church presented productions in an old barn and this barn was the home of the theatre company until the new theatre was opened last week.

Robert Davis is the handsome Curly of the White Oaks "Oklahoma!" He sings and acts with gusto to win Laurey, played by winsome, blonde Sheila Jo White. Together, they give new life to "The Surrey with the Fringe on Top," "People Will Say We're in Love," and with the ensemble, to "Oh What a Beautiful Mornin.'"

Linda Boblitt as Ado Annie Carnes is humorously precious. The audience, on opening night, was in her captivating hands from the moment she sang "I Cain't Say No" in the first act. Her adventures with Ali Hakim, the role of Ken Bachtold, and Will Parker, played by Mitch Marco, were truly amusing and, in no small part did both Ali and Will add to the fun. The latter, with Annie, in "All or Nuthin'" won deserved applause.

"It's a Scandal! It's an Outrage!" was given a rousing rendition by Ali and Boys and Girls. "Kansas City," sung by Will and the Boys with Aunt Eller, played by Tonia Brandt, was another notable number.

"The Farmer and the Cowman" was a lively second act opener as sung by Aunt Eller, Curly, Will, Ado Annie and the ensemble with Andrew Carnes, Annie's father, well done by Mike Byers, and Slim, equally pleasing as presented by Michael Collins.

Sam Hasson has the unpleasant part of Jud Fry and acquits himself with credit.

And of course, there is "Oklahoma!" which is lustily sung by Curley, Laurey, Aunt Eller, John Logan as Ike Skidmore and Skip Haston as Fred.

Skip Haston also takes the part of Curley in the dream ballet which closes the first act.

Outstanding, too, in this imaginative dance creation were Trish Mahoney and Linda Winnie, as Saloon Girls, Sam Hasson as Jud Fry and Sandra Lundwall as Laurey. Others who increased the effectiveness of this dance sequence were Barbara Gene Makinster, Mary Pattie, Tracy Carr, Chris Flynn, Larry Harper, Robert Santero and John O'Connell.

Esther Beth Makinster, Sergai Tschernish and Ron Stark add polish to the cast.

Angene Feyes is the production's assistant choreographer. Thomas and Gregory Janusz, respectively on the bass viol and drums, enhance the piano playing of Chris Nance. Martin Herzer is the stage manager for "Oklahoma!" which will play at White Oaks Theatre each week, Thursday through Sunday, through July 18.

Folk Festival At Forest Theater Open To Public Without Charge

Performers slated to appear at the Forest Theater on Sunday in a Folk Festival produced by Monterey Peninsula Folk Music Society, under the direction of Eleanor Wallace, include a number of local persons.

Dewie Dutton, a young Carmelite who spent several years in Mexico, was called by San Francisco reviewers, "The Discovery of the 1964 Folk Festival" after her debut at the Monterey Fairgrounds. Her inimitable, touching solo renditions are superbly compelling, and she delivers her songs with beautiful clarity in both Spanish and English

Kit Snow, a Peninsula favorite with both children and adults, will also appear. Kit's complex guitar artistry has given him the reputation for "sounding as if he uses four hands instead of two."

Adding a dash of truly American fire will be Keith Nelson on the banjo, along wtih his group of Blue Grass Players. Keith recently returned to the Peninsula after appearing at the folk festival in Washington.

Todd Cleave, a Montereyan currently with the U.S. Army, will present a repertoire of blues fashioned after Mississippi John Hurt, Elizabeth Cotton and Furry Lewis. Todd has made appearances in San Jose, and Felton.

Any representation of local folk music would not be complete without Joe Broadman of Carmel Valley. Joe stands out as the main contributor to the procreation and preservation of the central life of folk music on the Peninsula.

Special guest artist, Brent Le Baron, has appeared professionally in several of San Francisco's better known night clubs, including the Purple Onion, and is currently in the Army stationed at Fort Ord. He recently took first place in the Sixth Army talent competition.

Eleanor Wallace will present several of her original numbers including a few sing-alongs which she wrote especially for a chorus. An entertainer since she was 12 years old when she was in many radio shows, Eleanor has only recently entered the folk field, but her guitar and lute compositions have won her a far reaching reputation.

The Folk Festival, sponsored by the Carmel Arts Commission, will begin at 2 p.m. As usual, the public is invited without charge.

Fergussons Welcomed Back

A former Carmelite has returned to the Peninsula as the wife of the commanding general of Fort Ord. Major General Robert G. Fergusson and his wife, the former Charlotte Lawrence, will make their home in the old commandant's house at the Presidio of Monterey. The couple first met at the Presidio, when General Fergusson was a lieutenant stationed there, and their marriage took place in Carmel Mission in 1937.

Mrs. Fergusson, the daughter of the late Colonel Charles G. Lawrence and Mrs. Lawrence, a Carmel resident, is well remembered as an amateur writer, artist and actress in Peninsula little theatres, as well as for her charm of personality. Their many local friends are happy to welcome them back. They have a son, Robert, who is 22.

General Fergusson, whose distinguished career included his position as chief of staff for NATO, accepted his new command this morning in formal ceremonies at Fort Ord.

Among General Fergusson's decorations and citations are the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star Medal with three oak leaf clusters, the Army Commendation Medal with one oak leaf cluster, and the Purple Heart. He also wears the combat infantryman badge.

Owners Enjoy Island Resort

Stockholders in Kona Plantation near Kailua on the Kona coast of Hawaii, Peninsulans and Islands habitues all, were given the opportunity to be guests at the new luxury resort before it opened recently. Carmelites who visited the tropical cottage-type hotel were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stuefloten, Colonel John Tracy (USA ret.) and Mrs. Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Raggett and Mrs. Patrick North, wife of the president of the corporation and builder of the project.

Kona Plantation is really the dream child of Mr. and Mrs. North, who were seeking something they couldn't find — accommodations with privacy, beauty in surroundings, a near-perfect climate and views unmarred by high-rise apartments. After six months in the Islands, they learned of the location only the day before they were return to the mainland. Believing it the perfect spot for their ideal resort, they presented the idea to friends here and thus was born Kona Plantation.

Among other local shareholders are J. O. Handley, vice president of the company, who has been on hand during most of the construction; Dr. Roderick McArthur and Robert McGinnis.

Far-Flung Family Visited

It took Mrs. Churchill Carmalt a good six weeks of travel to check up on the activities of her children in their widely separated locations. At the beginning of May, a plane carried her to Peru for a two-week visit with her son, Charles Agle, who is with the Peace Corps in the hinterlands of that country. Charles, who is engaged to Elizabeth Clapp of Washington, D.C., is winding up his Peace Corps assignment and will attend Johns Hopkins University School of International Relations this Fall.

She next traveled, via Latin America, to New York, where her daughter, Lucy Carmalt, is living and painting. Before returning to Carmel, she attended the graduation her son, Kenneth Agle, from Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. Ken will enroll at the University of Pennsylvania graduate school to study history of art.

Menagerie At River Ranch

While the Richard Osbornes are in Europe, their daughters, Polly and Ellen, will stay with their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Walker. The Walkers have taken up residence for the summer at River Ranch in Carmel Valley and their Pebble Beach home will be occupied during July by Mrs. Walker's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hooker of San Francisco, and their daughter, Shreve.

Mrs. Walker sounds remarkably cheerful about the household additions, which arrived with the Osborne girls, of two poodles, Dodger and Jack, who are cautiously making friends with the Walkers' Corgi, Whiffy; a goat named Jake; a pony, and goodness only knows what else lurking in the ferns. These are, of course, in addition to the permanent animal population of the ranch. The smiling Peruvian cook, reports, Mrs. Walker, is taking everything in her stride.

Rod Hooker, Mrs. Walker's other son, and his wife, Julie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Burkett, are spending the summer in Europe. Anne Walker, who is now an assistant to one of the heads and a part-time model at Saks Fifth Avenue in San Francisco, gets down on weekends to visit her parents.

It's a busy summer for another Carmel family, the Steven Kahns of Carmel Point. On Monday, Mrs. Kahn left for Steamboat Springs, Colorado, where she will be a special guest at the Perry-Mansfield School of Theatre and Dance for the summer. Mr. Kahn will be traveling on business through the Northwest and Alaska.

Karen Kahn, who will enroll at Reed College in the fall, is attending the European Travel Camp in France, where she also spent last summer. Her brother Bobby, a promising thespian, is taking part in the Seattle Repertory Festival Theatre at Port Townsend, Washington. Her older brother, David, is employed for the summer at Data Dynamics.

Penny, a graduate of Santa Catalina School for Girls, is majoring in American history with emphasis on world affairs and plans to continue her studies for a credential to teach at the high school level.

Her brother, Tom Wilson, has been abroad since July of last year, hiking and working his way through Europe. He has also visited England, Turkey and Greece and was "mad about Rhodes." Tom will return to complete his senior year at San Francisco State College, undoubtedly enriched by his past year's experiences.

'Moon Is Blue' Evokes Spontaneous Laughter From Studio Audience

The slight plot of the "Moon Is Blue," which opened at the Studio Theatre Friday night, is offset by clever dialogue which demands quick-paced delivery by actors of near professional caliber. This it has, and a packed house responded with spontaneous laughter throughout the evening. Produced by Betty Hackett and Royden Martin, the play is under the competent direction of Michael Keller.

In the role of preposterously ingenous Patty O'Neill is Cheryl Parsons, a University of Pacific student. As voluble as she is guileless, her frank opinions and startling personal questions account for much of the humor in "The Moon Is Blue."

Donald Gresham, the young architect with questionable designs on Patty, is played by Paul Feiten, who has been seen frequently in Peninsula little theatre productions. A slight distraction in his portrayal is a tendency to react with identical facial expression to each situation.

The juicy part of David Slater, whose charm equals his amorality and cynical wisdom, is smoothly enacted by Tom McKenzie, director of speech and drama at Lincoln High School in Stockton. Slater has custody of his daughter, Cynthia, who has recently quarreled with her boy friend, the young architect.

Act one opens atop the observation tower of the Empire State Building, where Gresham has followed Patty after she has recklessly "given him the eye" during a brief encounter in a drug store. After listening to his promises not to make passes, Patty naively offers to cook dinner at his bachelor apartment.

Slater, who occupies an apartment in the same building, arrives and is immediately intrigued with Patty, to the annoyance of Gresham. The 40-year-old roue admits he's having a difficult time trying to be the outraged father because the young man has "toyed with his daughter's affections." Gresham tries to git rid of Slater, to no avail—Slater is staying. After dinner and considerable attention to the bar by the men, Gresham rushes out in response to a call from Cynthia, and Slater surprisingly suggests marriage to Patty. Though she delightedly considers the advantages of being wealthy, she declines, and a suddenly wistful Slater presses $600 on her—no strings—which eventually becomes another source of misunderstanding between Patty and her young suitor.

Patty's father, played by John Beckman Jr., has traced his daughter and bursts into the apartment to find Patty in Gresham's bedroom donning her skirt, which she had taken off to remove ketchup spilled on it by Gresham. Father, given to fire and brimstone warnings to his daughter, doesn't hesitate for Gresham's protestations of innocence but socks him in the eye and drags his tearful daughter away. Slater replenishes his brandy and sits down to contemplate this prostrate rival on the floor.

Unable to sleep and troubled because she can see nothing wrong with chastity, Patty returns to the apartment at 2 a.m. to plead for understanding. Sleepless, also, bruised and angry, Gresham chastises her for over-advertising her virtue and a crushed Patty departs.

Driven by rejection, Patty returns the next day at twilight to the Empire State observation tower to seek solace in meditation. A contrite Gresham finds her there, by instinct. Realizing Patty is the only one for him, he proposes marriage and the meeting that could only happen once in a blue moon ends on a happy note.

Ruth Jordan Allen was responsible for the design and execution of the attractive sets and was assisted by Peter De Bono, Susan McCormick and Roy Baxter.

"The Moon Is Blue" plays nightly except Monday until next Friday when "Anything Goes" will open at the Studio. The two plays will then alternate. Dinner is served from 6:30 p.m., with the curtain rising at 8:30 p.m.

Entire 'St. Matthew Passion' To Be 1965 Bach Festival Event

A noble and monumental work, "The Passion According to St. Matthew" by J. S. Bach will be presented in its entirely on both Sunday afternoons (July 18 - July 25) at 2 p.m. at Sunset Auditorium during this year's Carmel Bach Festival.

Bach wrote this passion in 1729 and it was performed appropriately on Good Friday of that year. Later the composer further developed the work by altering and extending it.

The Evangelist will be sung by James Schwabacher, tenor. Jesus will be sung by Ara Berberian, bass. A singer of acclaim, Mr. Berberian makes his debut with the festival this year.

The soprano arias will be sung by Marie Gibson, well known to festival audiences. Pauline Law, also known here for her festival appearances, will be the contralto soloist. The tenor arias will be sung by Edward Jameson, who is making his first appearance with the festival. The bass arias will be sung by Robert Oliver.

The chorus and chorale parts act as a commentary or reflection on the current situation. Written in hymn style, this has lovely and poignant melodies and harmonies.

The Carmel Bach Festival extends from July 16 through July 23 under the baton of Sandor Salgo, who this year celebrates his tenth anniversary with the Festival.

The box office in Carmel is now open daily, Monday through Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at festival headquarters located in the Sunset Terrace Building at Mission and Eighth in Carmel (phone 624-1521).

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Darrell Huff, who lives over in Pacific Grove and who has a card in our library, also has a new book entitled CYCLES IN YOUR LIFE. With cogent facts and possibly lying statistics, Mr. Huff seeks to convince his reader that in this life a great many things run in cycles. Most interesting to this librarian were his facts about human moods and their cycles. It seems that we operate on a five-week cycle and this time period is so reliable that you may chart your mood for a period of weeks and end by anticipating yourself for days ahead. This might be especially valuable if you were interviewing for a new job, or planning a vacation, or even anticipating cleaning the garage. By consulting your chart you could plan just to hold the fort during your down days, and when the inevitable up-swing starts you could expect to charge forth and conquer all opposition. If you think this is a joke, read the book and see how wrong you are.

A SENSE OF LIFE is a posthumous collection of hitherto unpublished writing by Antoine de Saint-Exupery, now collected and translated by Adrienne Foulke. He will be remembered as the author of WIND, SAND AND STARS, and also THE LITTLE PRINCE.

THE MOUNTBATTENS, THE LAST ROYAL SUCCESS STORY by Alden Hatch, is a three generation biography, the third generation of the story being Phillip, Duke of Edinburgh. The book covers the period from 1851 to the present day and the ceremonies connected with the establishment of Kenya as an independent country, at which ceremonies Prince Phillip represented the British Empire.

A book of interest to the traveller in this country is MUSEUMS U.S.A., A HISTORY AND GUIDE by Herbert Katz. Arranged geographically, there is a handy index in the back of the book for quick reference.

Professor Harvey Gross of the University of Denver has a new book entitled SOUND AND FORM IN MODERN POETRY which should be good if you write poetry or read it for pleasure.

HENRY MILLER LETTERS TO ANAIS NIN, edited by Gunther Stuhlmann, goes into circulation this week. Anais Nin was a friend of Miller during his early years in Paris, and backed the publication of his first book Tropic of Cancer. These letters span a period of 15 years in Miller's life, the years which are said to be perhaps his most important years, his most fruitful years as a writer.

A RESOLUTION PROVIDING FOR THE PUBLICATION OF PETITION FOR ANNEXATION OF NON-CONTIGUOUS TERRITORIES TO CARMEL SANITARY DISTRICT AND NOTICE OF TIME OF HEARING AS PROVIDED BY THE SANITARY DISTRICT ACT of 1923 AS AMENDED (Secs. 6830 and Secs. 6885-6886.10 inclusive, HEALTH AND SAFETY CODE)

WHEREAS, a verified petition signed by the owners of real property in territories as provided in Sections 6885 - 6886.10 inclusive, Health and Safety Code, which real property represents one hundred percent (100%) of the total assessed valuation of said territories as shown by the last equalized Assessment Roll, of the County of Monterey in which said Sanitary District is situated; designating specifically the boundaries of such territories and the assessed valuation thereof as shown by the aforesaid last equalized assessment roll, and showing the amount of real property owned by each of said petitioners and the assessed valuation thereof as shown by the last equalized assessment roll of Monterey County in which said real property is situated, and stating that such territories are not within the limits of any other sanitary district, and asking that such territories be annexed to the Carmel Sanitary District, have, at a regular meeting of the Sanitary Board, been presented to the said Board, and,

(3) That the cost of said installation is estimated by the District

Cultural Community Center

By Councilman Gunnar Norberg

CONSIDERATION: A do-it-ourselves Cultural-Community Center for the future.

FINDINGS: (1) The city has come into possession of the Sunset School property, which is to be used for cultural-community center purposes.

(2) Apart from the question of immediate operation and maintenance of the existing Sunset auditorium, and related matters, in the initial fiscal year, 1965-66 period, about which I am making another report, planning for a farther future must be done, as the Sunset Committee reports have pointed out.

(3) The city already owns the Forest Theater property, having received it long ago substantially as a gift, and essentially for the purpose of advancing the concept of community outdoor theatre in which Carmel was a nationally acknowledged pioneer.

(4) The city owns other presently unused property, some of which might ultimately be fitted into an over-all cultural-community center concept.

(5) Carmel represents much more than a fortunate meeting of sea and sand in a setting of fortuitous natural grandeur. Distinguished artists, writers, architects, actors, teachers, thinkers, doers of every kind—here by free choice from everywhere in the world—have not only left deep imprints upon their times generally, but have also left their mark upon Carmel. This is a great heritage upon which to build, and one rarely found in the small towns of this or any other time. It can become the foundation for a great tomorrow.

(6) Because of a fortunate combination of the factors mentioned —as well as other related ones which could easily come to mind —Carmel might therefore be able to originate, devise, develop, build, and operate not simply a conventional cultural-and-community center but, instead, a distinguished and especially apposite one for the quite extraordinary entity which Carmel is and the wide-ranging idea which it represents. And all this, and in the long run, probably without onerous or inhibiting tax burdens, but instead through private contributions of whatever kind.

(7) Individual donors, either of their ability or of their abundance, could rightly be memorialized, for the ages, in stone and structure, for contributions to the kind of center I am trying to suggest.

(8) Robert Stanton, long a resident of the Carmel area and thus familiar with its special sense and meaning, has expressed a wish to help in the development of a cultural-community center here. Widely experienced in planning and constructing public buildings, his thought and effort and direction could be invaluable. There are other architects here, retired or semi-retired, who might wish to contribute skill and talent. Just the other day I talked with a recently retired New York City architect, now living here, who expressed his interest and willingness. No doubt there are others, as well as artists, engineers, artisans of many kinds, who might want to help. Neophytes of many professional kinds, and from everywhere, probably would want to come here to work under professional masters of the kind envisioned.

(9) The kind of cultural-community center, about which I am writing here, is one which could well take many months and even years, just in the gestating and in the preliminary sketching. Any haste in its form or design could indeed be the greatest waste.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

(1) That Robert Stanton be asked to present any proposal which he might have with regard to an initiation and implementation of the thesis presented in this report, and that if and when he should be ready to do so, that a joint meeting of the city council and arts commission be called to hear him. If it should be appropriate, others with views in this matter, could be heard at this or later meetings.

(2) If a ready meeting of minds were to be achieved, a beginning could then be made on what, to me, would be a project of many years duration, and one which could proceed only as means—in time, effort, and money—were to become available. Eventually, however, a masterpiece could be wrought.

(3) If it were to be thought desirable, and mutually acceptable, a position as city architect or, perhaps, center architect, at some suitable nominal stipend, could be created, to launch the project. Work space could, of course, be provided on the Sunset property.

WHY NORBERG REPORT?

The "do-it-ourselves" Cultural-Community Center report by Councilman Gunnar Norberg, printed on this page, was written as a committee report by him for the information of his fellow city councilmen. At last week's city council meeting, its printing here in the Pine Cone was authorized.

The city council authorized publication in last week's Pine Cone of a "white paper" written and presented to the council on June 23 by Mayor Herbert B. Blanks. In it, he analyzes the economic and cultural structure of Carmel and concludes that a modern cultural-community center is imperative for the preservation of the city's prosperity. The Mayor did not advocate development of such a center with municipal funds. Rather, he indicated the advantages of leasing the Sunset site to a non-profit group which would develop the center. He also did not favor pouring city money into maintenance of the present deteriorated Sunset facility.

Mr. Norberg differed with the Mayor at last week's council meeting and requested that his report be published.

Norberg's view is that the city itself is the perfect non-profit, tax-exempt corporation, and that there is no need to look anywhere else for a non-governmental one. He also believes there is no desperate rush to begin tearing down existing Sunset School structures, nor is there any real need to get into any sudden big fund-raising effort. The city can take its time and do thorough long-range planning.

Basically he strongly resists the thought of what he calls "giving away" on a "dollar-a-year" basis for a great many years, the Sunset property which will cost the taxpayers of Carmel nearly a million dollars by the time it is paid for.

Large standards of mixed spring flowers and tall tapers graced Carmel Mission Basilica for the Saturday wedding of Jane Tetley and Dennis Robert Escola. The Reverend Roger Dieudonne performed the afternoon ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Richard Tetley, wore a long white silk organza gown, styled with a fitted bodice and A-line skirt. The short sleeves were of Swiss Guypre lace, which also was used to border the gown's long detachable train. Her silk illusion veil was held in place by a small fitted cap of the same lace, and she carried a bouquet of white daisies and garnet roses.

Sharon Predmore of Carmel Valley, a former Carmel High School classmate, was Jane's maid of honor. She wore a floor-length dress of maize colored crepe, detailed with lace bodice and portrait neckline. On her hair was a wide brim of stiffened white veiling held at the crown by a circle of white daisies, and daisies also made up her bouquet. The bridesmaids, dressed in costumes identical to that of Miss Predmore, were Julie Campbell of Carmel; Deborah Widmer of Sacramento, a sorority sister of Jane's; and Michele Mason of Portland, Oregon, who is the fiancee of the bride's brother.

As junior bridesmaids, Susan and Linda Escola, nieces of the bridegroom, wore long white organza dresses with maize colored sashes, the color being repeated in their ribbon headbands accented with white daisies.

Donald Escola of Klamath, California, was his brother's best man. Seating the guests were Reynold V. Escola Jr., of Santa Rosa, another brother; Peter Escola of Livermore, the bridegroom's cousin; John Moran of San Jose, and H. Duane Caplener of Berkeley.

The bride's mother greeted her guests in an Oleg Cassini suit of a pale pink shade with which she wore a matching silk organza turban and a corsage of white butterfly orchids.

Mrs. Escola chose a gown of pale green crepe with beige accessories and her corsage was of white butterfly orchids.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Del Monte Lodge, where the newlyweds cut a four-tiered cake.

When they left for their honeymoon in the Hawaiian Islands, the new Mrs. Escola was wearing a maize-colored coat dress with white accessories. The young couple will make their home in San Jose, where the bridegroom is employed by International Business Machines.

Jane, who graduated this month from the University of California at Berkeley, where she was affiliated with the Alpha Phi sorority, is the daughter of Mrs. Audrey Marten Tetley of Carmel and Colonel Wilfred H. Tetley of Buffalo, New York.

Dennis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Reynold V. Escola of Santa Rosa. He graduated from the University of California at Berkeley in January, 1964, and was a member of Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity while there.

Casa Do-Re-Mi Now Offers Montessori Method Instruction

The Casa Do-Re-Mi nursery school now has a new approach for the instruction of pre-schoolers, Dorette Comings, who has operated the licensed school since 1956, announces.

Mrs. Comings has acquired Montessori apparatus and has adapted the Montessori method of instruction to her teaching program which previously emphasized music.

She will, henceforth, offer to the preschoolers enrolled in her licensed school music instruction interwoven into a Montessori program. Previously she has largely used the Carabane-Cone method and has a large musical staff placed on the floor of one of the two rooms she uses for a school. The teaching is all done in the house which she and her husband, Richard Comings, purchased next to their own Hatton Fields Mesa home.

Mrs. Comings plans to have both morning and afternoon sessions, each limited to six pupils. All her equipment is child-oriented. The Montessori method teaches that there is a place for everything and everything must be in its place.

Two other principles of Montesori instruction are that a child cannot interfere with another child's work unless invited to share a project; and that equipment must not be misused.

A large, fenced garden is also included in the Casa Do-Re-Mi program. Mrs. Comings teaches the children to dig the earth, then plant and care for flower beds.

She studied the Montessori method during her student days in Germany and for the past two years has been increasing her knowledge in preparation for the new approach which she has instituted at her pre-school.

An interested participant in the new program is the Comingses' five-year-old daughter, Heidi. A Korean orphan, she came to the United States to live with them when she was 13 months old. This fall she will enter kindergarten.

Carmelite Has Plays Published

Maxine Shore, instructor of the Carmel Adult School writing classes, has had one of her plays included in the Bobbs-Merrill Best of Literature anthology, "Challenges for Reading," just off the press.

Another is also included in "Favorite Plays for Classroom Reading," just published, and edited by Donald D. Durrell and B. Alice Crossley.

Mrs. Shore, travelling in the East with her son, Steve, recent graduate of MPC, is conferring with editors, publishers and literary agents in New York. Registration for her summer workshop course in "Writing for Publication" will be on July 13. Further information is available at the Carmel Adult School (624-1713).

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

A timely Lesson-Sermon on "God" will be held in all Christian Science churches throughout the world this "Fourth of July" Sunday. Man's right to freedom from all forms of bondage will be brought out through the story of Moses' guidance of the children of Israel through the wilderness to the promised land to be found in the book of Exodus.

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include these lines: "The enslavement of man is not legitimate. It will cease when man enters into his heritage of freedom, his God-given dominion over the material senses. Mortals will some day assert their freedom in the name of Almighty God. Then they will control their own bodies through the understanding of divine Science" (p. 228).

Symphony Association Appoints Manager And Elects President

The Monterey County Symphony Association's board of directors announces the appointment of Colonel C. H. Du Val as business manager of the organization beginning today.

To his new position Colonel Du Val brings a wealth of varied experience. A graduate of West Point and the Harvard School of Business, he has served in a number of administrative assignments. Upon his retirement from the service, he received a Ford Foundation fellowship to San Francisco State College where he obtained his teaching credential in physics. He was a member of the Monterey High School faculty for six years and since his retirement from teaching has been engaged locally in real estate. His wife, Elisabeth is a member of the symphony's string section.

According to the new symphony association president, James M. R. Glaser Sr., the growth of orchestra services throughout the county and the ensuing business complexities have made it imperative to centralize its management.

In addition to Mr. Glaser, symphony association officers elected last month are Theodore Morris, Mrs. Frank G. Ringland and Robert Stanton, first, second and third vice-presidents, respectively; John Vondracek, treasurer; Mrs. Nihla Knight, recording secretary; and Mrs. Howard S. Bucquet, corresponding secretary.

Newly appointed to the board are Mrs. Brooks Firestone, Mrs. Walter Jennings, Mrs. William Burkett, Mrs. Clarence H. Waller, Jack Erwin, Robert Henning, Maurice Rattray, John Vondracek, and Judge Eugene Harrah.

Continuing to serve as members of the board for the next year are H. G, Royal, Sig Aidelberg, Wade Parks, Mrs. Reinhard Bachrach, Cecil H. Barker, Walter Burde, Fletcher Dutton, Kenneth A. Ehrman, Mrs. Austin Frey, Hugh Hannon, Mrs. R. Stafford Hughes, Gaylord Nelson, Charles Simpson and Philip C. Smith.

Gay Kuster Returning

Gay (Mrs. Edward) Kuster, who has been on a world tour for the past 14 months, will be welcomed at the San Francisco airport on Friday by her daughter and son-in-law, Marcia and Fred Rider, and their four-year-old daughter, Kate.

The Riders will also meet his cousin, Carol Rider, who is arriving from Rhinebeck, New York, the same day. Carol, a flutist, will spend two months with the Riders and will attend the summer Lyceum program, take a part in local musical activities, and work on costuming for the Circle Theatre.

Before returning to Carmel, they will attend performances of the Royal Ballet and Marcia will have a chance to visit with some of her friends in the troupe. In particular, she looks forward to seeing Lynn Seymour, who was for a time her roommate in London during the three years Marcia was a Royal Ballet student.

While in San Francisco, they will be guests at the apartment of Miss Elisabeth Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Gilbert of Carmel.

When the group returns to Carmel, Mrs. Kuster will occupy the residence of Mrs. Julian von Meier until Mrs. Von Meier gets back from her European travels.

De Forest Sweeneys Return

Mr. and Mrs. De Forest Sweeney, who have traveled around the world during Mr. Sweeney's sabbatical leave from Monterey Peninsula College, have returned to the United States and are in Rhode Island for this month. They will be back in Carmel for the beginning of the fall term at MPC.

Mrs. Sweeney's son, Frank Wallace, has completed a tour of duty with the Peace Corps in Nepal. He will return to Nepal, this time as a corps staff member. At present, he is in Washington, D.C., where he is helping with the training program for the group he will accompany.

Wedding Celebration

Saturday night, over 100 Peninsula and out of town friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Price (Lana Chang) were invited to help them celebrate their recent marriage at an outdoor dinner party held in the garden of the Prices' Carmel Highlands home.

Japanese lanterns strung between spreading oak trees colorfully lighted the terrace on which stood long tables decorated with bowls of rhododendron and laden with turkeys, ham and other delicious food.

A blazing fire on a lower terrace lighted the area where Glenn Minshall and Dennis Peavey took turns presiding at a bar. Later in the evening, there was dancing in the living room of the Prices' home when some of the guests played guitars, drums and piano.

Carmel Has City Administrator

a Carmel city clerk, the council considered it wise to make provision for an employee who could fulfill additional requirements, whether or not holding the office of city clerk. The position of city administrator protects the city in the eventuality that any future elected city clerk could not meet additional duties.

Another city official with a new title today is Arthur Plaxton. He is now Carmel's finance officer as provided in the new salary plan. His former title was city auditor.

Other new jobs included in the new salary schedule are detective, police lieutenant, parking officer, assistant superintendent of public works, parks and forestry foreman, fire captain, assistant city administrator, parkman, account clerk and senior secretary.

These jobs will be filled, when deemed necessary, by action of the city council following the evaluation of an employee by the heads of the various city departments.

Affected by the new salary schedule are 45 employees. City employees who will continue to be paid the same monthly salaries as before are city attorney ($400); city engineer ($120); city forester ($120); fire marshal ($20).

Last night, Mayor Blanks praised Mr. Bayless for the salary and classification survey on which the new schedule was based, and which included evaluation of all employees' jobs. His work enabled the council to take "a fine step" last night and city employees now "do not have any reason to believe they are discriminated against salarywise" he added.

The Mayor also lauded the contributions of City Auditor Arthur Plaxton to the new salary schedule which competes with the salaries of other city employees in the Peninsula area.

Trustees Postpone Any Change In School Cafeterias

Representatives from the California Employees Association injected a question about the legality of the use of vending machines, maintaining that the district must employ only its own personnel for food services, and quoting a court decision requiring a school district to cease contracting for janitorial services from a private concern. Mr. Bair replied that County Counsel William H. Stoffers has advised the district that since it has entered into a contract with the vending machine company, it should continue and that, in his opinion, the operation is not illegal under the State Education Code.

Concerning the hazards inherent in the location of the Carmel Valley Airport near Tularcitos School, the board directed Mr. Bair to invite Clyde P. Barnett, director of the California Aeronautics Division, to meet with the board at either of the next two meetings. As a private airport established before the Federal Aviation Agency was, the facility is exempt from its rules. If, however, the airport changes ownership or expands, and there appears to be some evidence that expansion may be taking place, it then becomes subject to the state agency's rules.

The board debated the make-up of a committee to study the financial needs of the district. Although the trustees expressed their intent to appoint such a committee, no formal action was taken. The board will meet in executive session on July 7 to discuss the matter further.

In other action taken last night, the board voted unanimously to renew Mr. Bair's contract for a four-year period at a salary of $22,500, beginning today; accepted the final plans from architect Fred Keeble for the instructional center and district administration offices; approved proposed rule changes relating to vacation pay of classified employees; adopted a resolution for settlement, on the recommendation of the county counsel, in the case of Neil Jensen versus Carmel Unified School District; authorized the call for bids to blacktop a playground area at Middle School and for renovation of the high school tennis courts; accepted with extreme regret the resignation of Mrs. Katherine Holmgren, teacher at Woods School; elected for employment Monty E. Feekes as a history teacher and driver training instructor at the high school; ratified a resolution continuing the use of the county office of education hearing testing service; and set July 14 and August 4 as the dates for the next board meetings.

City Of Carmel Takes Over Sunset School

come next year from the 50 percent hostelry tax earmarked to retire the Sunset bonds is $52,500.

The $12,000 rent which the city received from the school district was placed as a reserve in the municipal general fund to cover expenses which might accrue to the city in connection with Sunset following the January 1 purchase. So far, $600 of this money has been used to repair defective wiring. The school district paid a similar sum to accomplish this emergency work.

Another income item which accrued to the city following the purchase of the bonds and payment of the total $575,000 is interesting. The $25,000 to cover expenses was subtracted and the remaining $550,000 placed where it earned the city $7,500 interest before it was necessary to turn the original sum over to the school district on January 1. This interest was placed in the Sunset bond fund.

All the above figures were obtained from City Auditor Arthur Plaxton in an endeavor to clarify the financial picture as of today when the city takes possession of Sunset School.

The purchase of the school with hostelry tax money seems to be in no jeopardy unless some unforeseen catastrophe leaves Carmel's hostelries largely unoccupied or the state preempts the major part, or all, of the present four percent tax.

However, hostelry tax funds cannot be used to operate and maintain Sunset as a municipal cultural and community center. These monies will have to be included in the tax rate. The estimated cost to operate Sunset next year is $25,000. M.L.

Meredith Willson Dedication Speaker For Valley Theatre

Carmel Valley's White Oaks Theatre announces that Meredith Willson will be an honored guest speaker at the dedication ceremonies on Saturday. Responsible for "The Music Man," "Unsinkable Molly Brown," and "Here's Love," Mr. Willson is one of most successful personalities in musical theatre today.

Also a guest speaker at the ceremonies which will commence at 5:00 p.m., is J. Fenton McKenna, dean of the school of creative arts at San Francisco State College. Dr. McKenna, beloved by many of his former students who are members of the theatre's staff, will particularly speak on where White Oaks Theatre fits into the area of contemporary American theatre.

It is the belief of White Oaks that musical theatre, America's contribution to theatre, is the most exciting and satisfying form of contemporary theatre in the world today. Therefore, its aims are to establish a regional working theatre laboratory — educational, experimental, and creative center for the performing arts and its allied fields, and to bridge the gap between academic and professional theatre by providing training and performance experience for the actor-singer-dancer.

Dr. William Pratt will give the invocation and convocation, and a short performance will be presented by the pilot class of the theatre's training center, the members of the first year-round resident company, and the entire summer company. Following the ceremonies, special invited guests will remain for an informal "Oklahoma!"-style barbecue.
